With three meticulously maintained grass fields, an annual schedule of internationally recognized tournaments running from June to September, and Sunday match hospitality, Greenwich Polo Club offers an exceptional experience.

Greenwich Polo Club was established in 1981 and is regarded as one of the top high-goal polo venues in the world. Known for its unmatched roster of legendary teams, professional players, and champion equine athletes, GPC hosts some of the most important tournaments in polo, including the prestigious East Coast Open. Some of the world's best players have played at Greenwich Polo Club, including Mariano Aguerre, Hilario Ulloa, Nacho Figueres, and many others. Each Spring, players descend on Greenwich with their strings of elite horses to compete for polo's most prestigious titles.

10 things to know about polo

• EACH GAME CONSISTS OF TWO TEAMS: You'll find 4 players on each team for official matches, competing on a field 200 yards by 100 yards, equivalent to 10 football fields, with goal posts on either end. Similar to hockey or soccer, each team attempts to score goals in the opponent's goal. The winner is the team that scores the most goals. Polo games are charged every 45 minutes (quarters), there are called games, although they are full games horses. You can find 80-100 horses on the field.

• CHECKERS: The periods in which games are divided. Each half-hour is 7 and a half minutes, 4 children are played in each match at Greenwich. The wood is derived from hick.

• WALLEY: Stick made out of a hickory and wood used to hit the ball.

• GOALS: The direction of the game changes after every score, to make the conditions even.

• OFF-IDE: The right side of the horse.

• HANDBAP: The way a player is named. There's 2 to 10 depending on their skills as a rider and player. A 10 goaler is considered the best and less than 100 players in the world have ever reached this achievement. Handcaps are assessed continuously throughout the year, and they are expressed in goals to describe a player's value to the team, not the goals he is expected to score. A game is put together matching the overall handcap of all players. The level of teams for low and high goal polo games vary within each region of the world.

• LINE OF THE BALL: This is "the right of way" in polo, created to avoid dangerous situations. It works like a 3-way highway and it changes every time the ball is hit. This line may never be crossed by either player.

• BEHIND: When a horse makes another horse strike away from the line of the ball.

• SHOOTING: When a player kicks another's mallet. This can only be done while the mallet is swinging down.
